FOREWORD

We are happy, indeed, to present Volume X of the Persian Catalogue of Manuscripts' Library of Sālār Jung Museum. The importance of this Volume is to further enhance, in view of the celebrations of 400 years of Ḥyderābād, as it throws adequate light on the Persian sources of Ḥyderābādī Art and Culture.

The oldest dated codex of this Catalogue is the Persian translation of Ibn Jazla's Arabic treatise on Medicine entitled Tarjuma-e Minhāju'l-Bayān by Muḥammad A'r-Raḍī a'ṭ-Ṭabib. The treatise is a glossary of simple medicines relating to food and drinks transcribed in Ta'līq script by the translator himself in 679/1280. The Sālār Jung Museum Manuscripts' Library has a number of copies of Dhakhīra-e Khwārizmshāhī which is the oldest encyclopaedia of the Medical Science and most of these codices transcribed in India. The Manuscript No. 3949 of this Catalogue contains the Royal seals of Sulṭān Muḥammad Qulī Quṭbshāh, Muḥammad Quṭbshāh and 'Abdu'llah Quṭbshāh. Similarly, we have a Persian translation of "Koka Shastra" by Ḍiyāu'ddīn Nakhshshibī which contains erotic paintings of Kashmīr School datable to 18th and 19th cent. A.D.

A noted work from Gujarāt, "Shifākhāni" is dedicated to Sulṭān Muẓaffar Shāh in 794/1391. However, our codex was copied in 1222/1807 at Cambay. Nuskha-e-Ghorā Cholī is ascribed to the celebrated saint Sayyid Muḥammad Gesūdarāz. Another manuscript Tajribāt-u'l-Mujarrabāt-e-Ghiyath Shāhī of Gujarāt is based on an Indian work; "Ma'dan-u'sh-Shifā," is datable to Lodhī Period. "Zubdat-u'l-Kuḥḥālīn" is a rare treatise on antimony. Dhakhīra-e-Niẓāmshāhī is dedicated to Burhān Niẓāmshāh I of Aḥmadnagar in 954/1547 and transcribed in 1040/1630 A.D.

Another important codex of our collection is Ikhtiyārāt-e-Quṭbshāhī which is a critical study of another famous work Ikhtiyārat-e Badi'ī undertaken at the command of Sulṭān Muḥammad Quli Quṭbshāh of Golkonda by his Prime Minister, Mīr Muḥammad Mu'min Astrābādī in collaboration with other physicians. It is transcribed in good Nasta'līq by Niẓāma and 'Arab Shīrāzī in 1339/1629 and 1040/1630 respectively with excellent 'unwāns at Ḥyderābād. "Mumtāz-e 'Ārifī" is on sexual science dedicated to Mīr Niẓām 'Alī Khān Āṣifjāh II in 1203/1788. Kitābu'l-Fawā'id is an extra ordinary glossary of Medical terms in Arabic, Persian and Hindi which is dedicated to Āṣif Jāh IV and Mahārāja Chandūl'al.

Similarly in Veterinary Sciences, codex Mu'ālaja-e-Jānwarān is the earliest available manuscript on the treatment of animals and dedicated to Fīrūz Shāh in 680/1281, but our copy is transcribed in xii/xviii century. Faras Nāma is a treatise on horses, their kinds, diseases and treatment compiled at Gulbarga in 810/1407 by 'Abdu'llah and based on the Sanskrit work Salihotra. Risāla-e-Ṣayd is dedicated to Akbar, the great and deals with hunting and falconry, it is transcribed in good Nast'aliq in 1004/1596. Bāznāma is dedicated to Emperor 'Ālamgīr and is based on falconry Kabūtar-Nāma of Sayyid Muḥammad Wālih Mūsawī is on pigeons, their cures and training and Filnāma is an anonymous treatise on elephants and their diseases based on Indian works.

Lastly, it is my pleasant duty to thank Dr. M. A. Aḥmad, Director Dairatu'l-Ma'ārif Press, Osmania University and his staff for their co-operation in printing this catalogue elegantly. I must also congratulate the staff working in the Manuscripts Library for their timely action to bring out this volume.
