

The Salar Jung Museum is enhancing the museum-going experience by offering captivating audio descriptions of its fascinating objects in 12 different languages. In collaboration with Anuvadini, the museum is providing visitors with personalized audio guides that bring history to life. As you explore the galleries, you can now scan QR codes with your smartphone and listen to rich descriptions of the exhibits in your preferred language. By making art and artefacts more accessible to diverse audiences, this innovative feature is bridging language gaps and enriching the overall visit, leaving you with a lasting impression.
